

The Theory of Evolution is a Superstitious Philosophy

Date of Publication: 17.09.2022

According to the most widely accepted explanations of the theory of evolution, all living things is the descendant of a common single-celled "ancestor" that formed billions of years ago. The changes of the common "ancestor" that occur during their lineage are passed on to future generations. This is considered as the explanation of all life. According to them, the reason for these changes is mutations in genes, survival of living things suitable for the world environment, other non-adaptive creatures are eliminated. They explain this mechanism as natural selection.

It is a fact that it is Allah, the Lord of the worlds, who created all living things and human beings. Every thinking person immediately sees and realizes this obvious truth by examining the living things in the environment and its own body. It is very clear that the theory of evolution is an unscientific and irrational claim. It is obvious that blind coincidences cannot create an impeccable design in vitality. However, some people use the theory of evolution just to be able to deny Allah and His religion, Islam. They are trying to keep these superstitious thoughts and claims alive. For this they cling to false reasonings and claims as much as possible. They have to do this because otherwise they have to accept the existence of God. That would be self-denial for them. Therefore, the controversy on the theory of evolution still continues today.

Those who are against the Islamic faith justify themselves with word, perception and logic games. They try every possible way to get it out. However, we can only guess that they didn't believe what they claim. So it is needed to give answers to these absurd claims so that the minds of Muslims are not spoiled by these false comments and claims.

The theory of evolutions is tried to be presented as a scientific fact everywhere, up to scientific publications and in the school books used in secular education programs for about 150 years. The theory of evolution really rests on very flimsy foundations. Every claim made by evolutionists has been refuted one by one by science. On the other hand, evolutionists know very well that the facts are based on belief in Allah. But since they themselves do not believe in God and the spiritual side of man, they tried to perpetuate the materialist and atheist worldviews which are wrong and superstition. For this they cling to their views with all their own methods and stand up with false reasonings. Because otherwise they would have denied themselves. In this article, we will deal with some of the basic claims of the theory of evolution separately. We will try to prove how contradictory and false the claims are.

وَمَا خَلَقْنَا السَّمَاوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضَ وَمَا بَيْنَهُمَا إِلَّا
بِالْحَقِّ وَإِنَّ السَّاعَةَ لَأَتِيَةٌ فَاصْفَحِ الصَّفْحَ الْجَمِيلَ

[ And We have not created the heavens and earth and that between them except in truth. And indeed, the Hour is coming; so forgive with gracious forgiveness ]

| The Quran 15:85 |

The theory of evolution sees coincidences as a creative deity

Nothing in nature happens by chance. Everything is perfectly formed by a divine power. There is no place for coincidence in the universe. Everything was created with a right and wisdom. Believing in coincidences is to believe in the irregularity in the universe. If something like this happened, the universe wouldn't be able to stand, everything is stirred up to each other. But we do not see such a situation. Man sees that everything around him and in himself is moving in an orderly manner.

“We have created the heavens and the earth and all that is between the two in accordance with the requirements of truth and wisdom. The hour is surely coming. So overlook (their faults) with gracious forgiveness. Surely your Lord is the All Knowing Creator!” (Al-Hijr, 15/85)

According to the theory of evolution, unconscious, mindless, incapable and inanimate atoms like phosphorus, carbon came together as a result of coincidences. These atoms organized themselves perfectly through natural events in nature such as lightning, volcanoes, ultraviolet rays, radiation. Thus, the proteins and cells are formed. These came together again by chance, and people and all other living things were formed.

In a human DNA molecule, it exists information to fill a million encyclopedia pages. All of this information has a very important order. If we randomly sprinkle millions of letters on the street, all these scattered letters turns into a state of an article or these millions of letters are written like the ones on the newspaper page. Is it possible to say that it was a blind coincidence? Of course not. However, according to Darwinist understanding, this extraordinary event is possible to be happened by chance.

It means that the evolutionary theorists views the chance as a creative deity. However, this is accepted by no man and no scientist.

The theory of evolution sees natural selection as evidence

The most important pillar of the theory of evolution is "natural selection". The word selection means "sorting" and "selector". Natural selection is described in the book of Darwin, "The Origin of Species", which was published in 1859. This understanding is that more populations are being produced than available resources can feed. There will be a fierce fight for life between individuals and eventually only a part of the new generation will be able to live the normal course of life. This natural selection lasts for generations. Successive generations take small steps to a change. In this process, new species are formed. The weakest of the living are dead and eliminated; survivors are the best fed and the worst protected of their enemies. According to this understanding, all living things lived in a common past. They have descended from one ancestor and are linked by a common lineage.

In a study based on the external characteristics (morphological features) of living things, they found similarities between human and ape besides being mammals. Based on these, they claimed that humans and apes descended from a common ancestor. According to them the difference between man and ape is not in nature, but only in degree.

Evolutionary theorists go even further and examine human mental characteristics and morals. They claimed that its structure was formed by a process dependent on natural selection. By this reason, evolutionists seek to find similarities between living things in order to increase their evidence. They tried to find these similarities first in the morphological structure, then in the emotions. They looked for it in expression and genetics. Thus, the biologically centered theory of evolution turned into the general theory of evolution. Thus the idea of Social Darwinism emerged.

In the researches conducted in the following years has emerged that all these views were wrong. Especially the discoveries of molecular biology after 1950, the function of DNA molecules in the cell has refuted all these claims. Because the perfectly structured information system in DNA clearly proves that his views and the results of Darwin and evolutionists are not correct.

We can give the following answers to the above claims of the theory of evolution: The mechanism expressed as natural selection does not change living things through evolution and does not give them new features. But it strengthens the traits of one specie. For example, in a region the living rabbits those who can run faster have a better chance of survival. After a few generations, the rabbits in this region consist of individuals that run faster. But never any other creature other than these rabbits, such as hounds or foxes have not evolved.

It is sometimes said that human and monkey genes are 99% similar. This is a propaganda slogan that was deliberately produced years ago. First of all, in order to compare the DNA of both species, both gene maps must be known exactly. However, so far only human genetic map is obtained. No such study has yet been done for the chimpanzee. Studies have shown that only 97 of the 30,000 genes in humans (03%) was comparable. With such scant research, establishing a lineage between human and ape is only because of the prejudices of evolutionists. It is as absurd as declaring that two thick books are 99% similar by reading only three sentences in them.

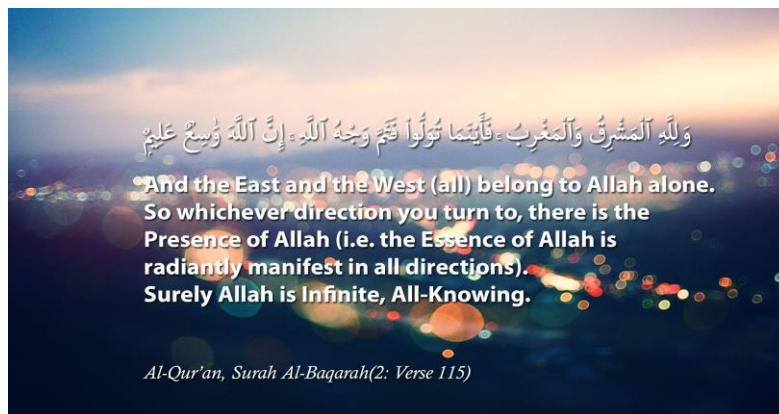

Since the genes of two living things are partially similar, the similarity rate differences shows depending on the selected genes. If dissimilar genes are selected, the result is 0%. If all is selected from similar genes, it will be 100%. Moreover, evolutionists don't compare the genesis of humans only with chimpanzees, also with the genes of fruit fly and whale. If the exact same genes are selected in a study comparing the genes of fruit fly and whale, humans will be 100% fruit flies or 100% whales. Therefore, there is no reason in claiming that 99% of all the monkey's and human genes are the same. It has no scientific or logical side.

The British science magazine New Scientist published the same issue on the Internet on September 23, 2002. In his news, with the headline "Human - Chimpanzee genetic difference tripled", he stated the following: "It has led to new comparisons between human and chimpanzee DNA. We are more unique than previously thought. For a long time, it was argued that our relatives and our genetic structure are similar to 98.5%. Now this turns out to be wrong. In reality we share less than 95% of our genetic makeup. The difference between us and chimpanzees is 3 times more than you think."

It is absurd to claim that there is a certain evolutionary origin in the behavior of animals and humans. Because these claims have nothing to do with reality. Living things don't have a mind, consciousness and ability. So it is also an absurd that they'll learn by trial and error, and then they'll register this as a behavior in their genes, and they'll transfer them to new generation. The defensive styles that save their lives, the home innate patterns of behavior such as building patterns, searching for nutritional pathways were created for them.

Allah Almighty has created every living thing with its own characteristics and behavior patterns. For example, it is not possible for a butterfly to eventually transform its body into the appearance of a dry leaf to camouflage itself to survive. And a beaver is so advanced that it cuts off the flow of water in the stream to be able to build a dam that would require engineering calculations and to have the ability to do this from the moment of birth. It is not a situation that can be explained by mechanisms. Living things were first created with certain characteristics and behaviors that they can protect themselves. They are born with these characteristics. It is Allah Who gives them these characteristics.

If what evolutionary theorists claim were true, living things on earth should have emerged through gradual changes. Also over time they had to be seen to continue to change. However, the fossil record examined does not confirm this, he says the opposite. However, they are truly different creatures. They appeared suddenly, without ancestors like them, and over millions of years they have remained the same as a species without any change throughout.

Evolutionary theorists try to explain life in terms of material elements

Darwin wrote his book "The Origin of Species" in the 19th century. In this book it was claimed that bacteria could consist of inanimate matter. This view was widely accepted in the world. Because the scientific data and the technology was not advanced enough. What is known today was unknown at that time. So it was possible to make such wrong reasonings with the knowledge of those days.

Five years after Darwin's book was published, the famous French biologist Louis Pasteur definitively refuted this belief that formed the basis of evolution. As a result of Pasteur's research, the following conclusion was reached: "Inanimate substances are definitely cannot create life." Accordingly, it is necessary to look for the cause of life in another source. This means that life on earth did not occur spontaneously, but in a miraculous and divine revealed that it began with creation.

Almost all of the basic living categories known today were created 500 million years ago. It emerged simultaneously and suddenly in the geological period called the "Cambrian Age" out. Reptiles, molluscs, worms, arthropods, vertebrates they have completely different body structures in the previous geological times. These creatures had no analogues. Therefore, these creatures have appeared at a certain time simultaneously.

This fact refuted the claim that living things evolved from a single common ancestor over a long period of time and they reproduce gradually. Earth is suddenly filled with many very different creatures with body structures and extremely complex organs. It shows that living things were created by a divine power. Since evolutionists did not believe in this event, they could not explain this event at all.

It is the information in the cells that make up life. Nature, as in the example of DNA, is full of tremendous information, and since this information cannot be reduced to matter, it comes from a transcendental source. At the forefront of the theory of evolution today George C. Williams, one of its leading proponents, argues that most materialists and evolutionists do not want to see and do not accept this fact. Williams has defended materialism vigorously for years. But in a 1995 article, he expresses the error of the materialist (reductionist) approach, which assumes that everything is a matter as follows:

“Evolutionary biologists have not so far stated that they are working in two different fields. They did not notice; these two fields are matter and information... These two fields are can never be brought together with the formula we know as “reductionism”. It shows that matter and information have two different domains of existence, and the origin of these two different area should also be investigated separately. Genes are more than material objects. They are packets of information... In biology, if you talk about concepts, like genes, genotypes and gene pools, you are talking about knowledge not about physical objects.”

Matter and knowledge were expressed in Sufism much earlier. Ibn Arabi, His Holiness, states that every being has two faces. One of these faces is for the world. This is its substance side. The other side is oriented to Allah Almighty. We do not know this face exactly. However, this face gives us some information. This discovery of the science of secrets was made 1000 years ago. The positive science perceive it only in the last century.

In the 20th century, science proved the fact that the information in DNA is not based on matter, as materialists claim. Therefore, the source of knowledge in nature cannot be matter, contrary to what materialists think. Source of information is not matter, but a superior intellect beyond matter. This mind exists before matter. Matter came into existence with it, was formed and organized with it. Allah is the Owner of this mind and Lord of all the worlds. This is the origin of life. This extraordinary knowledge collapses materialist philosophy. It offers numerous proofs of obvious existence of Allah Almighty.

Anthony Flew, the famous atheist philosopher, stated the following on this subject:

"I am convinced that the first living matter was made of inanimate matter by evolution, and then transformation into an extraordinarily complex creature is out of the question... DNA research by biologists, reveal the almost unbelievable complexity of necessary arrangements. It is showed that consciousness must have been at the root of life."

Professor Gerald Schroeder, one of the scientists who influenced Flew, said in his book, "Science is Absolute, Revealing the Truth":

"Intellect and knowledge manifested throughout the universe. A single consciousness, a universal mind, pervades the entire universe. The findings of science investigating the quantum nature of subatomic matter lead us to the admirable admission that the whole being is an expression of this mind. In laboratories it was first expressed as energy, then condensed in the form of matter which we observe as information. Every particle, every being, from atom to human reveals the level of knowledge and intelligence."

"The east and west belongs to Allah. Now wherever you turn, there is the Face of God. Surely, Allah is All Pervading and All Knowing." (Baccarat, 2/115)

وَلَا تَلْبِسُوا الْحَقَّ بِالْبَاطِلِ وَتَكْتُمُوا الْحَقَّ وَأَنْتُمْ
تَعْلَمُونَ

“And mix not truth with falsehood, nor conceal the truth while you know (the truth).” [Al-Baqarah 2: 42]

Evolutionary theorists cannot explain the conscious design in living things

All of the developments in the womb and after birth organized within the framework of a determined program. This is human development. The perfect arrangement is expressed in the Qur'an as follows:

“Does man, then, think that he is to be left to himself, to go about it will? Was he not once a drop of ejaculated semen which then became leechlike clot; then God shaped and fashioned him in due proportion.” (Doomsday, 75/36-38)

While still in the state of a newly fertilized egg cell in the mother's womb, Allah has determined all the features which he will have in the future and it's embedded in its DNA. Eye color, blood type, face shape, bone all features, such as its structure, determined by a coded plan from nine months ago as he is only a single cell.

From the moment the egg cell is first fertilized, the growing embryo cells each of the events related to all the biochemical, physical developments that make it appear. It takes place under the control of the project in DNA. Professor Phillip E. Johnson talks about the perfection of the system as follows:

“The instructions in the fertilized egg are from the beginning of embryonic development control and ensure that it reaches a certain result. This is the complete set of instructions uses the material processes of physics and chemistry, but not produced by those processes. Likewise, software on a computer is a word operating document uses natural processes to create, but the software is created by an intelligent agent. It must be written.”

It is not possible that the inanimate, unconscious atoms that make up the building blocks of the cell, do the planning, the project determining, writing, decrypting, taking multi-stage measures, to set up systems to protect the knowledge. Anyone who can think independently of materialist and Darwinist dogmas, such an order cannot come into being on its own. On the contrary, a superior mind will appreciate that. It is the work of Allah. By Allah's will, the lifeless elements in the earth combine to build a living human being and they fulfill the task assigned to them with perfect coordination.

In the Qur'an, Allah reveals:

“Who gave everything its perfect form. He originated the creation of man from clay.” (Prostration, 32/7)

Dr. Lee Spetner describes the formation of a human being who can think from a single cell with these words:

“Your eyes, arms and legs, even fingernails and lashes are in perfection. This is an excellent and incredibly complex. How did living things come from a single cell? What kind of program may have led the development? Eyes that can see, ears that can hear, a brain directing the movements of its complex organs, all in one made up of cells. The fact that each of us is made up of a single cell and transforming into a thinking being that can perform many activities. It's really mind-blowing.”

All these extraordinary events cannot be the work of chance or the cell itself, is clearly evident. Well, the one who manages these events in the cell has a certain purpose. Billions of information that is too small to be seen with the naked eye.

Who owns the mind and power that fits into the field? There is only one answer to this question: the Almighty Our Lord, with His infinite mercy, has created man in his present state in a proper form and offers the order in his body and around him is a blessing to man. In one verse, it is stated:

"He gave you everything you wanted. If you try to count the blessings of Allah, you can't afford to count and finish. The truth is that man is very cruel and is ungrateful.” (Abraham, 14/34)

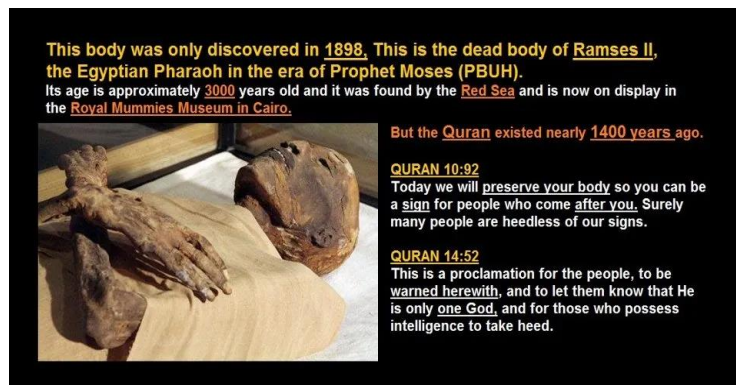

As a result, the genome (all genes) project has made no evidence in favor of the theory of evolution. On the contrary, it revealed that an evolutionary tree of life cannot be constructed based on DNA and gene structures among living things. It dealt a great blow to Darwinism. DNA codes of living things clearly showed that the tree of life, which has been imposed on people as a truth ever since, is a superstition.

The main aim of those who are blindly devoted to Darwinism is not to provide scientific information to the public, not to convey developments, but only to spread Darwinism. However all the foundations of Darwinist propaganda is melting day by day scientifically one after another. In this situation, an increasing number of people believes that the theory of evolution is a deception perpetuated for ideological reasons and the fact of creation is spreading rapidly. Allah in the Quran states:

“Do not cover the truth with falsehood and do not hide the truth. (Besides) you know (the truth).” (Baccarat, 2/42)

“No, we throw truth over falsehood, and it smashes into his brain. And you see that it has disappeared. From what you describe against Allah woe to you for that.” (The Prophets, 21/18)

The theory of evolution tried to use fossils as evidence

As the theory of evolution puts it, if living species were to evolve over time, and they have transformed intermediate species must have formed and lived in this long transformation time. For example, besides fishes half-fish-half-reptile creatures must have lived which have some reptilian features. Some reptile also gained some bird characteristics and reptile birds must have arisen. Because they are in a transitional period, they would be crippled, deficient. They must be imperfect creatures. If indeed such creatures existed in the past their number and variety must have been in the millions. In this case, the remains of these strange creatures must be encountered in the fossil record.

Darwin explained this in his book, The Origin of Species as follows: "If my theory is correct, there are countless types of intermediates that connect species, surely they must have lived... Evidence that they lived is only can be found among the fossil remains."

From the middle of the 19th century until today, a feverish fossil studies are carried out. However, in these studies, this transition forms were not found. All the excavations and researches showed that contrary to what evolutionists expected, living things suddenly appeared on earth. It was seen that they appeared completely and flawlessly. Although the famous paleontologist (fossil scientist) Derek W. Ager is an evolutionist, he admits this fact as follows: "Our problem is this: When we examine the fossil record in detail we are constantly faced with the same reality. We do not see groups that evolve through evolution, but groups that suddenly form on the earth."

Fossils show that living things emerged in a complete and perfect form on earth. So the origin of species, contrary to what Darwin thought, is Creation, not evolution. There are also some fossil records that disappoint evolutionists on this subject.

Evolutionists claimed the Coelacanth class to be an intermediate form whose fossils are 400 million years old, between fish and amphibians (livings that can live both on land and in the sea). They thought it as a very strong intermediate form evidence and this specie was exhausted 70 million years ago. They made all kinds of speculations on it. But in 1938 the Indian Ocean a Coelacanth was found alive off the coast. In the following years, other more than 200 were caught in the regions.

With the catching of these fish, the groundlessness of the speculations was also understood. Coelacanth, contrary to the claims of evolutionists, has not half-fish, half-amphibian features. Even above a depth of 180 meters they don't live.

DNA strands contain all kinds of proteins, enzymes, molecular information needed to build engines, hormones, and other building blocks. This coded information determines that the eyes, ears are symmetrical, the heart is blood pumping, carrying oxygen to cells, breaking down nutrients formation of stomach acid and all other physical properties of the body. The information packages that determine these are called genes. According to this DNA is a molecule specially created to store information. It is impossible for this structure to come into existence by chance. It has come into being consciously by the command and knowledge of Allah.

“Such is God your Lord: to Him belongs all dominion. And those whom you invoke besides Him have not the least power.” (Fatir, 35/13)

Professor Werner Gitt says the following about the special structure in DNA: “The encryption system used for living things is the best from an engineering point of view. It is perfect. This fact shows that it is a purposeful creation rather than coincidental coincidences. It reinforces this view.”

Inside DNA is a huge data bank equivalent to tens of thousands of volumes of books. According to Darwinists, this data bank came into being spontaneously by chance. It was compressed into an invisible dimension by chance. Evolution theorists blindly defend such an impossibility.

However, neither the cell nor its data bank, DNA, is the accidental creation of unconscious atoms. It cannot be formed by their coming together. Even the smallest parts of living things were created with a purpose, and each of them has a complex structure so that it will not allow for coincidence. This is now the case for almost everyone. The German philosopher Arthur Schopenhauer says: “...The organism is alive in all its parts, and they are nowhere - the smallest even its particles – not just a collection of inanimate matter.”

Claiming that DNA and the vast information it contains came into being by itself is a serious mental breakdown. Among those running the human genome project Gene Myers stated the following about the information in DNA: “We also don't understand yet...there is a metaphysical, supernatural element, really the architecture of life astonishing... The system is incredibly complex...There is a tremendous mind here (in the DNA). I do not believe that it's unscientific for me to think that way. Others may think so, but not me.”

This inexplicable but admirable intelligence and knowledge in DNA is a reflection of infinite wisdom and knowledge of Allah.

“Allah is the light of the heavens and the earth. The representation of His light is a candle in which there is a lamp. That lamp is in a crystal; it's crystal like a star like a pearl. He is ignited by oil which comes out of a blessed tree that cannot be compared to the east or the west. This is such a tree that even gives light, its oil is almost untouched by fire. Light upon Light. Allah guides whom He wills to His light. This is how Allah sets an example for people. God knows everything.” (Light, 24/35)

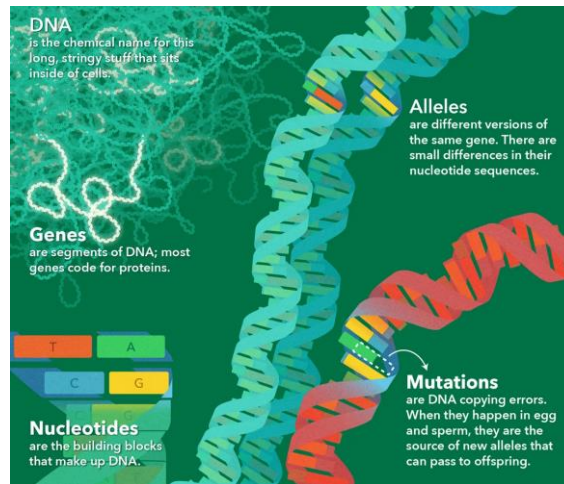

All living things on earth, bacteria, viruses, insects, horses and plants have their own DNA in their cells. In the DNA of each information, the detailed plan of the organism's own body structure and its needs. Considering that there are millions of living species on earth, the amount and scope of this information will be better understood.

It is Allah Who creates separate DNA sequences for different species. From the moment when life was first created, the whole body has been inside the cells for a lifetime. This wealth of information, which guides its activities, has been placed. It is not a slow and gradual development process as evolution theorists claim. Because, if even one of the information is missing, it is impossible for that creature to reproduce and live.

In this case, the claims of evolutists that the cells of living things pass through long and gradual periods, is completely irrational.

“...when He created you from soil, and you were in the wombs of your mothers. He knows you best while you are there. Don't justify yourself for this. For He knows best who refrains from evil.” (Stars, 53/32)

Cell mutations are not evidence for the theory of evolution

Neo Darwinism is an effort to hold on by combining with Darwin's theory of evolution and Austrian biologist Gregor Mendel's laws of genetic inheritance. Neo Darwinists, like Darwin, argue that the diversity in life occurs spontaneously and is accidental. They cited genetic changes as the source of life during the copying of DNA by external effects such as radiation in genes or that may occur during very small changes (mutation).

For their theories, they thought, they could use it. They claimed these small changes eventually would cause big changes. However, this understanding is invalid. Because for today, many scientists accept the level of complexity in life cannot be obtained by what Neo Darwinism assumes. Professor Marcel Paul Schützenberger, in his book "The Mathematical Challenge to the Neo Darwinian Interpretation of Evolution" says: "We believe that there is a serious gap in the theory of evolution of Neo-Darwinism. And We believe that this gap is of such a nature that it cannot be filled by today's concept of biology."

Any explanation that the theory of evolution tries to bring about the origin of life are irrational and unscientific claims. In this regard, Professor Pierre Grassé says:

"Meeting the needs of animals and plants through random mutations. It's really hard to believe it does. But Darwinism goes more than and wants that a single plant, a single animal, thousands and thousands of exactly what it should be exposed to beneficial coincidences. So miracles are a common rule for events with incredibly low probabilities should easily become should happen. There is no law forbidding daydreaming, but it should not be included in science.”

Because mutations occur randomly, they almost always do harm for living things. Any unconscious intervention to a complex structure does not take the structure further, on the contrary, it destroys it. Indeed, there is no valid example of random beneficial mutations proposed as the mechanism of evolution.

Can new knowledge be formed as a result of mutations? Professor Werner Gitt answers as follows: “This view is based on evolutionist accounts, but mutations may cause the existed information to be changed. There can be no increase in this knowledge and in general the results are harmful. New functions or new organs cannot occur; mutations cannot be the source of new (creative) knowledge.”

How random mutations negatively affect the information and order in DNA is explained by Professor Phillip Johnson as follows: “...random mutation is not such a mechanism, natural selection and physics or as well as the laws of chemistry. Laws produce simple repetitive patterns, coincidence produces meaningless order. When law and coincidence meet, preventing a meaningful sequence both work against the other. Of all human experience, only intelligence factor can write an encyclopedia or computer program and can produce complex, specialized and non-periodic information. Therefore, in organisms necessarily found knowledge indicates that they are products of creation.”

All this shows that, as evolutionists claim, the origin of living things is random mutations have no place. Mutations cannot be the cause of diversity by no means in living things. The flawless orders in DNA can only be the result of creation. This creation belongs to Allah, the Almighty. The self-assembly of inanimate matter into magnificent systems such as DNA is a claim of the theory of evolution, which is that living things with an outrageous delusion. All living things are creations of Allah, the possessor of infinite power and intelligence.

“He is Allah, the Creator, the Maker, and the Shaper of beings. The most beautiful names belong to Him. Those in the heavens and on earth declare His Praises and His glory. He is the Exalted in Might , the Wise” (The Gathering, 59/24)

The theory of evolution cannot explain protein synthesis in cells

Proteins are the most important building blocks of living things. For protein synthesis in the cell structure, hundreds of different proteins and enzymes are needed. How did the first protein appear out? This question is one of evolutionists' most important dilemmas. In this respect the evolutionist biologist Carly P. Haskings states the following in an article: "... But thanks to biochemical genetics, many important questions of evolution still could not be answered... In all living things, both DNA replication and translating the codes on them into proteins is possible only by quite specific and convenient enzymes. At the same time, the structures of these enzyme molecules is determined by DNA itself. This truth raises a problem very mysterious in evolution. In the case of evolution did the code itself and this other enzymes required in the synthesis of proteins come together? The extraordinary complexity of these compounds and uninterrupted coordination between them for their synthesis. It's ridiculous to talk about the time congruent. We should seek the answering this question outside of Darwin's views. Because the situation in question constitutes a very strong piece of evidence that predicts special creation."

According to this explanation, for protein synthesis to occur, all the systems must exist together. Evolutionists claim the coincidence of these proteins and then the cells formed by the accidental assembly of proteins. This is an expression of the collapse of the theory of evolution. Because today we know that without one of these parts, the other is absolutely does not occur. This tells us that all living beings is created by Allah together with all their systems.

The theory of evolution cannot explain the miracles of the working systems of the organs in the body. The human eye is made up of 40 basic parts and is much more complex than the most advanced camera. It provides a perfect image and clarity. These 40 essentials for the eye must exist at the same time and work in harmony. Without one of these parts, the eye cannot see. How does a camera create itself? If it cannot be formed gradually by the coming together of parts as a result of coincidences, the eye cannot come into being gradually and as a result of coincidence.

The human brain consists of about 100 billion nerve cells. Nerve in the brain cells communicate between them through junction points called "synapses". There are 10,000 synapses in each neuron. This means that one neuron at the same time can communicate with 10 thousand different neurons inside the human brain. The number of synapses is estimated at 1 quadrillion. This means quadrillion communications simultaneously. On the other hand transistors in computers which are the nerve cells of computer, have only 6 ports. The world's fastest processing computers can process on average  $10^{EX9}$  per second. The speed of the brain is  $10^{EX15}$  for the same process. Moreover while the capacity of computer memory is  $10^{EX11}$  bits (bit=computer saveable smallest unit of information) brain is  $10^{EX14}$ . This difference shows that its capacity is as much as the total capacity of 1000 computers.

It is absolutely impossible for cells that the coincidence organize nerve-wracking to form an admirable network. How come the internet technology or even the simplest telephone exchange by chance? It is clear that it is necessary engineering, design, knowledge, intelligence and technology for this. How people who know that the more extraordinary system in the brain can claim to have occurred accidentally? Undoubtedly, it is the result of commitment blindly apply to the theory of evolution. Every person who approaches without prejudice, can see the magnificence in creation.

Some microbes and foreign substances called antigens enter the circulatory system and they pose a danger to humans. The defense system cells try to destroy antigens by producing substances called antibodies. They try to prevent their reproduction. The most important property of antibodies is to recognize hundreds of thousands of different microbes that exist in nature and to be prepared for destruction. But the interesting thing is that artificial antigens created in the laboratory and placed in the human body are detected by antibodies. How can a cell recognize hundreds of thousands of different foreign cells? Besides may also have knowledge of an artificially produced substance. Moreover, antibodies can instantly produce effective weapons to be used against foreigners. This situation puts evolutionists in a dire strait and caused to collapse of their dreams.

Blood clot is similar with emergency calls to an accident on the highway. It is a process reminiscent of the first aid of patrols and ambulances. When there is bleeding in any part of the body, the first aid is called platelet, comes from blood plaques. Platelets circulate dispersedly in the blood. For this reason, wherever the bleeding is in the body, there is a patrolling platelet close to that area.

A protein named "Von Willebrand" helps by pointing to the accident site. When he sees the platelets like a traffic policeman who wants to, he cuts them off and allows them to stay in place. The first platelet arriving at the scene secretes a substance and calls the others to the scene. Meanwhile, twenty enzymes in the body come together and act on the wound. It begins to produce a protein called thrombin. Thrombin is produced only on open wound. The medicine required for the patient by the first aid team at this crime scene. It's like making it on the spot. Moreover, this production is exactly as needed. In addition, this protein production must start at the right time and at the right time must be stopped. The enzymes that produce this protein give the start and stop command between them.

After sufficient amount of thrombin protein is produced, strands are formed. It is called fibrinogen. These filaments form a web over the blood and incoming platelets accumulate by attaching to this network. When this accumulation is concentrated, the blood outflow stops. The enzymes and proteins mentioned here are structures made up of different arrangement of atoms which are lifeless, unconscious blind. Each of these the most urgent form of injury, by undertaking a duty from the very beginning of the injury, flowing in the province they organize to stop the blood. Such a consciousness of these atomic masses is undoubtedly a great miracle and is not based entirely on coincidences. Of course, it cannot be the product of the evolutionary process.

Blood is like a garbage unit that collects cell waste. It carries waste materials to the kidneys and these substances are cleared in the kidneys. Toxic produced in cells, carbon dioxide gas is also carried to the lungs by the blood, where it leaves the body. The blood cells moving in the veins are extremely consciously wasteful, distinguish between waste substances and useful substances. He knows very well where to go. For example, never toxic gases is carried to the kidneys, or they do not take waste materials to the lungs. The blood cells are extremely stable without any confusion, disruption or error, consciously performing their duties, controlling, regulating. It shows the existence of an organizing mind and knowledge. It is clear that all these features of blood is given by Allah, the Almighty, the One who gave and created a flawless system.

Bones store vital substances such as calcium and phosphorus. In any case, they give back these stored substances to the body when needed. A bone cell that has no eyes or any sense organs, found in the blood easily distinguishes calcium and phosphorus among thousands of different substances. Then it catches these atoms without surprise. A human cannot distinguish them if he has not an special education on this subject. In addition, when the bone cell receives the order to store calcium, it immediately obeys. If he is ordered to drop the calcium he has stored, he will do so. Bone cell with high consciousness, ability, responsibility and discipline. He continues his duty day and night. It is an obvious fact that these cells with special abilities cannot exist coincidentally.

The kidney takes up only 5 to 7 centimeters of space. Silently, without being felt, without stopping it works without the need for any maintenance. It controls the quality of blood and commands the production of blood cells. It regulates the amount of water in the blood and checks blood pressure. It cleans the blood. 2.4 million filters best suited to the body's needs works continuously. It does not require any special time to work. It continues to work wherever the person is. Kidneys have much superior features than dialysis machines. People who know that a dialysis machine could not come into existence by chance, do not claim that kidneys with these features were formed by chance.

It is very strong acids are secreted in the stomach in order to digest the food and the proteins it contains. These acids are strong enough to digest even a razor blade. How can acids not harm the stomach, which is itself composed of proteins? The answer to this is hidden in one of the unique design examples in the human body. Thanks to the depths of the recessed walls of the stomach, the stomach does not digest. These deep pits in the stomach walls are also different from each other. A team in the stomach is in delicate balance. While cells secrete acid, other cells next to these cells also secrete a sticky liquid. This liquid called mucus covers the surface of the stomach and it protects its wall like a shield against acids and prevents enzymes from damaging the stomach. What about the decision center cells or atoms that take this rational measure for the stomach? Is it possible? Of course not. Every feature of the human body is the result of a flawless creation.

Successes in the Human Genome Project are part of the destiny created by God

After the conclusion of the human genome project, some publications misleading in order not to reveal the impasse of his theory any more. They began to broadcast messages and misinform the public. It is expressed with different slogans and titles that the Darwinist materialist press brings to the agenda the most. One of the topics he talks about is that the discovery of the gene map supposedly affects the destinies of humans. Messages such as "Man will no longer succumb to his fate" is presented with information about the human gene map is a big deal and an error. Because, in fact, the gene mapping of the human doesn't change the flow of the destiny of the human being at all.

"You cannot will unless Allah wills. Indeed, Allah is Knower, Judgment and Wisdom." (Human, 76/30)

Destiny is Allah's knowing all past and future events as a single moment. God also knows all the events that did not happen beforehand. Some of the people cannot understand the subject of how He knows the events that have not happened yet, that is, the fact of fate. However, an event that a person has not yet encountered is an unprecedented event. All events with an unknown outcome is simply unknown to us. God, the possessor of infinite knowledge, is not dependent on the time and space. He is the creator of time and space. Because for God, the past, the future and the present are all one. In God's sight everything that we live in and everything that will happen in the future has already happened. All when the time comes, people witness the destiny that Allah has created for them.

“The keys of the Unseen are with Him. No one knows the unseen except Him. He knows all that happens on land and in the sea. Not a leaf falls without His knowing. There is nothing wet or dry in the darkness of the earth, but is everything found in the Book that explains it.” (The Cattle, 6/59)

This is true for every person and every event. It is not possible for one to interfere with the destiny created by Him and impossible to do any change in the course of events. For example, Allah has created every human being with a certain life span. And the moment of death of every person is also determined in the sight of Allah in terms of place, time and form. The disease in which a person is caught is the fate of people before he is born, determined many years ago. Whether he will get rid of that disease is determined in his destiny. Even doctors, nurses, who will be instrumental in his recovery, the hospital, medicines and treatment methods are written beforehand in the sight of Allah. So if a person gets better it doesn't mean that he can change his destiny. It means that healing is written in your destiny. If one day in the future, a person's lifespan will be saved by the right interventions in his genes, it doesn't mean that in this case the person in question intervened in his own destiny. This means that God created this man with a long life and the fact that his map was drawn also contributed to the long life of this person. Finding the gene map also means that he lives in a period where developments are taking place also means that the life of that person is medically significant. It is also his destiny to be extended by means of means. All in the sight of Allah, that human being known before birth.

Likewise, as a result of the discoveries made within the framework of this project, treating the fatal disease of a person is also his destiny. Because in this man's destiny, it is possible to get rid of his illness through this project. After all, human gene mapping and human intervention in the genetic program does not mean to go against the destiny created by Allah. On the contrary, in this way, humanity experiences the developments that Allah has created for them by observing, discovering and using the knowledge created by Allah.

If a person lives 120 years thanks to these scientific developments, it's an age Allah has predestined for him. That's how long his life will be. In a verse, God states that a person's life is determined in a book in His own court.

“God created you from soil. Then he created from a drop of water, then He made you in pairs. No female conceives or gives birth without His knowledge. The extension of life and shortening of its life is also written in the book. There is no doubt that this is easy for Allah.” (Fatir, 35/11)

In short, the statements “I beat my destiny, changed my destiny, intervened in destiny” are false expressions by stemming from ignorance of not knowing the truth of destiny. It is also in his destiny predetermined for a person to speak using these expressions. Where, when, under what conditions did the person say this sentence? It has been determined in the sight of Allah.

“God is all-knowing. Nothing in the heavens and on earth, an atom's weight, cannot stay away from Him. The smaller or the larger without exception, is written in an open book.” (Saba, 34/3)

“Anything that happens on earth and occurs in your selves there is no calamity that is not written in a book before We create it. No doubt this is very easy for Allah.” (The Iron, 57/22)

“... Allah's command is an ordained destiny.” (The Confederates, 33/38)

Fable of human evolution

The origin of man is one of the issues most frequently brought up by evolutionists. According to Darwinism's claims regarding the origin of species, it is claimed that it evolved from some ape-like creatures. They say that the process began 45 million years ago. In this process it is stated that some intermediate forms lived between human and imaginary ancestors. According to them, in this scenario there are four basic phases: Australopithecus › Homo habilis › Homo erectus › Homo sapiens (human). Meanwhile, the spelling signifies that each is the ancestor of the next.

Evolutionists create an imaginary evolution scheme by arranging the fossils of these different creatures one after the other. But the existence of an evolutionary relationship between these different classes can never be proven.

Australopithecus is an extinct ape species. It has been determined that there is no similarity with humans and this species. It was found that each of these species lived in different parts of the world at the same time. Even some of homo erectus lived until very modern times. It was determined that the people in other three group were also found side by side in the same environment. This information clearly demonstrate the invalidity of the claim that these classes are the ancestors of each other.

Ernst Mayr, one of the most famous proponents of the theory of evolution in the 20th century, admits this fact by saying "The chain to sapiense (human) is really lost". Stephen Jay Gould, a Harvard University paleontologist, says the following about this impasse that the theory of evolution has entered, despite being an evolutionist:

“If three different hominid lines living in parallel with each other, if so, then what happened to our family tree? It is clear that one of these couldn't have come. Moreover, it does not show the trend that one is an evolutionary improvement compared to the others. The human evolution scenario is something that secular education embraces. This is expressed with drawings of imaginary half-ape-half-human creatures in the books. These claims must be made purely for propaganda purposes in order to survive. It is a fairy tale that has no scientific basis.”

Although the researcher Lord Solly Zuckerman who is an evolutionist, came to the conclusion that there is no real family tree from ape-like creature to human. In this science evaluation by Zuckerman, he shows human evolution as unscientific: “When we enter in the human fossil history, we realize that anything is possible for anyone who believes in the theory of evolution. According to these explanations, these people, who firmly believe in their theories, have some contradictory judgments. It is even possible for them to accept contra statements at the same time.”

It means that the tale of human evolution is one that blindly believes in its theories.

The frauds that evolutionists commit to make their claims believe

It is known that sometimes scientists use the tools they need to justify their predictions. As well as cheating by playing with the equations in their theories. Many people commit fraud for the sake of their ideologies and beliefs is understandable, but encourage scientists to falsify scientific studies is very difficult to understand.

One of the famous frauds in the name of the theory of evolution is the "Piltdown man" in the year 1912. Arthur Smith, director of the Natural History Museum in London, Woodward and Charles Dawson said they had found fossil skull with a jaw and roughly hewn and stone tools located near Piltdown in England. This fossil's jawbone is very close to that of a monkey and fossil skull that of a human skull. They have claimed that this fossil fills a huge gap in human evolution and it was claimed to belong to a creature dating back 500,000 years. However, when age determination was made with a new method discovered in 1950, it is proved that the jaw bone remained in the soil for only a few years, while the skull was several thousand years old.

After obtaining this information, it was understood that the bones were painted and sanded to give them their old appearance. It was also seen that the teeth were ground to be placed in the jawbone. Thus, a fraud was made by combining the monkey's jaw with the human head confirmed. But for 40 years, evolutionary theorists have been using this fraudulent product. They used it abundantly for their paradigms. This fossil has evolved over 40 years and considered as one of the most important proofs of his theory and mentioned in books. Later, when this fraud was exposed, these articles from the textbooks has been removed.

Another fraud in the theory of evolution is relevant with Haeckel's embryo drawings. But these drawings are still in textbooks. It has been proven that these drawings are fake. They are Haeckel's misleading information about the stages of the embryo. Embryologist Michael proved this in 1995. Richardson said that this fraud is the most serious in biology. He said it was one of the famous scams. Famous evolutionary biologist Stephen Jay Gould marvels that Haeckel's illustrations still exist in modern textbooks and regards as something to be ashamed of.

Evolutionary theorists use textbooks to propagate their claims. However, this is a huge mistake and how helpless these people are. However, in textbooks this preservation of false information is not only at the request of scientists. There are certainly political administrators among those who decide on this. Because the aim of the theory of evolution is world politics and a desire to dominate people. This topic is an issue that needs to be dealt with.

Nebraska man is also a fake by evolution theorists one of those. In 1922 the famous fossil scientist Henry Fairfield Osborn discovered a tooth fossil in Nebraska. The experts on the subject claimed that this is the tooth of an intermediate species between humans and chimpanzees. After that, detailed information about the characteristics of the Nebraska man and descriptions are published. However, it was later found out that this tooth was a pig's tooth. Whereas before that, many anthropologists were concerned with how Nebraska men lived. They told many stories.

The frauds about Piltdown man, Nebraska man, and Haeckel's drawings have deceived people who believe in the theory of evolution. However, this is a sign that those who commit frauds do not actually believe in this theory. Because otherwise they would prefer more honest ways to prove what they believe.

(Al Qur'an 7:179)

And We have certainly created for Hell many of the jinn and mankind.
They have hearts with which they do not understand, they have eyes with which they do not see, and they have ears with which they do not hear.
Those are like livestock; rather, they are more astray. It is they who are the heedless.

Conclusion

A science that escapes worries and works independently of evolutionists' biased interpretations, will undoubtedly begin to develop rapidly. Shown by logic, reason and science If the facts were taken into account in this direction, it would be clear that a coincidence origin of life is fallacy. A quick response will also be possible. Thus, the way of science will be opened, scientific developments will accelerate.

Allah Almighty says:

“Amongst us are some that submit their wills (to God), and some that swerve from justice. Now those who submit their wills - they have sought out (the path) of right conduct” (The Spirits, 72/14)

To use the phrase the greatest and most influential magic in the history of the world is the theory of evolution. Because in the history of the world, people have lost their minds to such a degree space, which does not allow them to think with reason and logic, as if in front of their eyes pulls a curtain and prevents them from seeing the obvious truth or no more claims.

In fact, this is a folly pointed out by Allah in the Qur'an. It is stated in the verses of the Qur'an that some people will lose their understanding and become incapable of seeing the truth. Some of these are:

“Indeed, it does not matter to those who disbelieve, whether you warn them or not. they don't believe. Allah has sealed their hearts and ears. There are veils on their eyes, and a great punishment is upon them.” (Baccarat, 2/6.7)

“...They have hearts, with which they do not understand. It has eyes, with that they don't see. They have ears, with which they do not hear. They are like animals. Even they are inferior. These are the heedless ones.” (The Heights, 7/179)

Allah states that they are too fascinated to believe even if they see the miracles

“If we open a door from the sky on them, if they go up from there, They say, "Our eyes were veiled, or rather, we were cast a spell." (Hijr, 15/14.15)

Today, those who believe in extremely absurd claims under the guise of being scientific and those who dedicate their lives to defending them, if they do not give up on these claims, they will be humiliated when the truth is fully revealed. If it does not happen in this world, it will definitely be in the hereafter. But in the hereafter awakening will not bring any benefit to these people. Because in the hereafter, there is no return. It will be a very important gain for people to get rid of and see the truth in this world.

Malcolm Muggeridge was an atheist philosopher who advocated evolution until about the age of 60, but he saw the facts and described the situation of the theory of evolution in the near future as follows: “I myself believe that the theory of evolution, especially in the fields in which it is applied, will be one of the greatest jokes in the books. The next generation will be astounded about the acceptance of such a flimsy and vague hypothesis.”

This future is not far away. On the contrary, in the very near future, people will realize that coincidence cannot be Gods, and the theory of evolution will be described as deception and the most violent magic in the history of the world. This fierce magic has started to get rid of people all over the world at a rapid pace. Now many people have learned the secret of the evolution deception. They think with astonishment and amazement how can they fall prey to this deception.

People are now returning to the idea of creation. They realize God's existence, His knowledge and His power. His creation and perfect knowing that the beings in the universe are managed in an order makes it possible to obtain a lot of scientific information. With the command "Read", which is the first verse of Islam, all reading the realities of the universe and understanding them is at the fard level of man and is his duty. That's what science is. Therefore, everyone should have science in this sense. It is an act of worship and an act that earns Allah's approval.

We hope that the 21st century will be time slice in which the science understanding of Islam will prevail. Thus, people lovingly and willingly will convert to Islam. These people will live Islam and thus all over the world peace, trust and happiness will prevail again. All beings in heaven and on earth will be extremely pleased with this situation, and they will thank Allah, the Lord of the worlds,

Source

"Advances and Challenges in Science", American Scientist, 1971, v. 59, p. 298

"Beyond The Ivory Tower", Solly Zuckerman, Toplinger Publication, New York, 1970

"Contemporary Belief Problems", Temel Yeşilyurt, DIB Publications, Ankara, 2018

"Evolution of Living Organismus", Academic Press, New York, 1977

"Evolution Trial", Phillip Johnson, Tradition Publishing House, Istanbul, 2005

"Fütûhât-ı Mekkiyye", Ibn Arabi, Litera Publishing, Istanbul, 2012

"If Darwin Knew DNA", Harun Yahya, Research Publishing, Istanbul, 2013

"Natural History," Stephen Jay Gould, 1976, v. 85, p. 30

"Not by Chance, Shattering The Modern Theory of Evolution", The Judaica Press Inc., 1997

"Rûhu'l-Beyân Commentary", İsmail H. Bursevi, Damla Publishing House, Istanbul, 2010

"The Collapse of the Theory of Evolution in 50 Items", Harun Yahya, Research Publishing,

Istanbul, 2003

"The Hidden Face of God", Gerald Schroeder, Tradition Publications, Istanbul, 2003

"The Nature of the Fossil Record", Derek A. Ager, Proceedings of the British Geological Association, 1970, v. 87, p. 133

"The Origin of Species", Charles Darwin, Onur Publications, Ankara, 1996

"The Third Culture: Beyond the Scientific Revolution", George C. Williams, Simon & Schuster, New York, 1995

For your comments and criticisms: oryanmh@gmail.com

Home Page

Articles